Welcome, Land Trust Fall intern Elizabeth Stone!

Dear Kivi,

Children running through flowering meadows, green pastures that stretch toward flowing creeks...these are the images and experiences we want to preserve for our family, now and for generations to come. Will you help ensure that your land is protected so you and your family can enjoy the beauty and history of our natural resources?

Give a gift this holiday season in honor of a friend or family member and know that you're helping to protect precious land (and remember, your gift counts toward your year-end tax deduction).

Over the next few months, we expect to close on over four dozen conservation projects throughout the state, totaling over 12,000 additional acres. Your support is important to this goal. Thank you for all you do.

Happy Holidays,
The Land Trust for Tennessee

→ Take Action: Protect Your Land

Be a Visionary

Every day, somewhere across the state of Tennessee, some 118 acres of farmland are lost. And a bit of our heritage goes with it.

Without The Land Trust, Tennessee faces irreversible loss of open land, farms and scenic landscapes.

One of the best ways to help is to join The Land Trust for Tennessee Visionary Society.

First Ever Landowner Picnic

Landowners were honored for protecting land and historic sites throughout Tennessee. Read more here.

Pioneering Farms in Tennessee

During the Farmland Legacy Conference in Nashville, Governor Bredesen recognized Pioneer farms in Tennessee. The conference provided a unique opportunity for farmers to have an open dialogue about the future of farmland in Tennessee and inspired many new landowners to contact The Land Trust. Submit Your Comments Before the Deadline

We have submitted our final application for accreditation, which is designed to strengthen management of conservation land transactions and promote confidence in land trusts.

A public comment period is now open, and the Land Trust Accreditation Commission invites public input and accepts signed, written comments on our pending application through December 28, 2008. Click here to learn more and submit your comments.

Preserving 800 Acres Along the Buffalo River

We worked with three families to protect over two miles of the Buffalo River that will be permanently conserved with the scenic views of open farmland to be enjoyed by canoeists for generations to come. Read the whole story.

Protection of Lost Cove Inspires Landowners

Last year, the Land Trust for Tennessee and the University of the South protected 3,000 acres around Lost and Champion Coves and inspired three other landowners to protect properties adjacent to this land. Read more here.
